Career Development:
Cosmetology • Cosmetology Instructor

Let’s explore some of the opinions or related career opportunities that are available to the professional hairdresser. The majority of the students who graduate from cosmetology school begin their career in a styling atmosphere. Some choose to return to their respective hometowns, others may decide to relocate to a different city or state to begin their practice. Because of the advanced type of curriculum offered at the Academy, you will find the transition from school to the job relatively smooth.

Teaching Level
This area can be broken down into two facets. The first is cosmetology school instructor. This would require a dedicated individual who has, or is willing to acquire, the overall knowledge it takes to instruct in all phases of our profession. Instructors are usually paid a salary and have the possibilities of moving up to school manager or styles director. School ownership is also possible. Secondly, there is demand for those who possess that touch of “showbiz”. We call these very talented people “guest artists”. This job requires teaching licensed hair-dressers the latest styles and methods. Guest artists usually work on Sundays and Mondays traveling to various parts of the country doing shows. They are usually paid a guest artists fee plus their expenses. Styling on a stage in front of hundreds of your peers requires public speaking talents as well as technical and advanced artistic knowledge.

There are two basic categories of large companies that hire licensed hair designers: The manufacturer and the distributor.

Manufacturers
All the beauty products you see advertised are produced or manufactured by someone. The companies who produce or manufacture these products need people to call on salons, schools, and distributors to demonstrate and sell their product. These people are usually called field reps or technicians. This career opportunity requires extensive travel and special training at the companies’ headquarters. There are many advancement possibilities in this position.

Distributor Level
Here you would function primarily as a sales consultant. This would include such details as the introduction of new products, inventory control, retail merchandising, salon equipment and design advice, and in some instances, basic business advice. The distributor consultant acts as the liaison between the manufacturer and the working stylist or salon owner.

Salon Level
At the salon or styling level there are many advancement opportunities both in money and positions. As your experience grows with time and advanced education, so should your pricing structure escalate. Those who show leadership qualities could raise to management positions. As in many other fields, the beauty industry has reached the age of specialization. This means that in some of the larger salons throughout the country there are hair designers who elect to specialize in one or more of the many services performed in a full-service salon. Perming, color, makeup/skin care are just a few of the specialized fields within the salon network. Of course, owning your own business is also a possibility.

School Internal Complaint Procedure
Any teacher, student or interested party may file a complaint against the Academy of Hair Design. The complaint must be in writing and signed by the complainant. The complaint must be delivered to the Owner or Executive Director. The complaint will be discussed with the Internal Complaint Committee. The Internal Complaint Committee is comprised of the School Owner, Manager and Executive Director. The Committee will meet in person or through telephone conference within fifteen working days to discuss and investigate the complaint.
The Committee will respond in writing to the complainant within fifteen calendar days after meeting and rendering a decision of the allegations made.

The Academy of Hair Design will try to resolve any internal problems within the school. If the complainant is not satisfied with the response from the school’s Internal Complaint Committee, they may file a written complaint with the school’s Accrediting Agency and or appropriate Licensing Agency.
